D. Reading

Many schools are trying to become greener. Students bring reusable bottles, put paper and plastic into separate bins, and turn off lights when they leave classrooms. Some schools also organise music events to raise money for environmental projects. These activities help students understand that small actions can make a difference. They also give students chances to work together and develop useful skills.

19. Name two actions students take to make schools greener.
20. Why do some schools organise music events?
21. What do these activities help students understand?
22. Find a word in the passage that means “not for one-time use”.

E. Writing

Write 120–150 words about a school activity that can help the community or the environment. Describe the activity, what students do, and its benefits. Use at least one passive sentence and one compound sentence.
